

Essential & Effective.

Realty Marketing/Northwest and Realty Marketing/Southeast is a real estate marketing and brokerage company specializing in regional auctions and sealed bid marketing campaigns serving clients across the Northwestern and Southeastern United States. They were listed in the "Land Report" as the number 4 auction house (out of 25) in the U.S. for land sales by auction.

John Rosenthal and Tim Reinertsen rely on The Wall Street Journal's regional print capabilities to reach their audience on the local level in order to close the deal. "The quality of The Wall Street Journal readership and its geographic depth has helped us sell a wide range of properties."

From condominiums, resort and commercial properties to company towns, ranches and timber properties, The Journal is the ideal environment for their company. "It has generated sales and also new clients," adds Rosenthal.
